

Time-Honored Marietta: A Special Project

In 1949 Charles Peterson began his college education at Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio. Some twenty four years later he retired as one of the college's most endeared professors. The desire to pursue his art full time separated "Chick" from his alma mater, but it did not end his close relationship with it. In June of 1998, Charles Peterson was honored as the inaugural inductee into the Marietta College "Alumni Faculty Hall Of Fame."

With this special place having played such an important part in Charles Peterson's life, he was moved to create a painting to aid in a major capital campaign for Marietta. "Time-Honored Marietta" celebrates a proud heritage, featuring real personalities from the past who have played significant roles in the life of the college. The image has been published in two limited editions: a "Gallery Edition" (950 s/n) for distribution through authorized dealers nationwide, and a personalized "Marietta Campaign Edition" (200 s/n), produced solely for presentation to major benefactors of the college.

New Charles Peterson Book "in the works"!

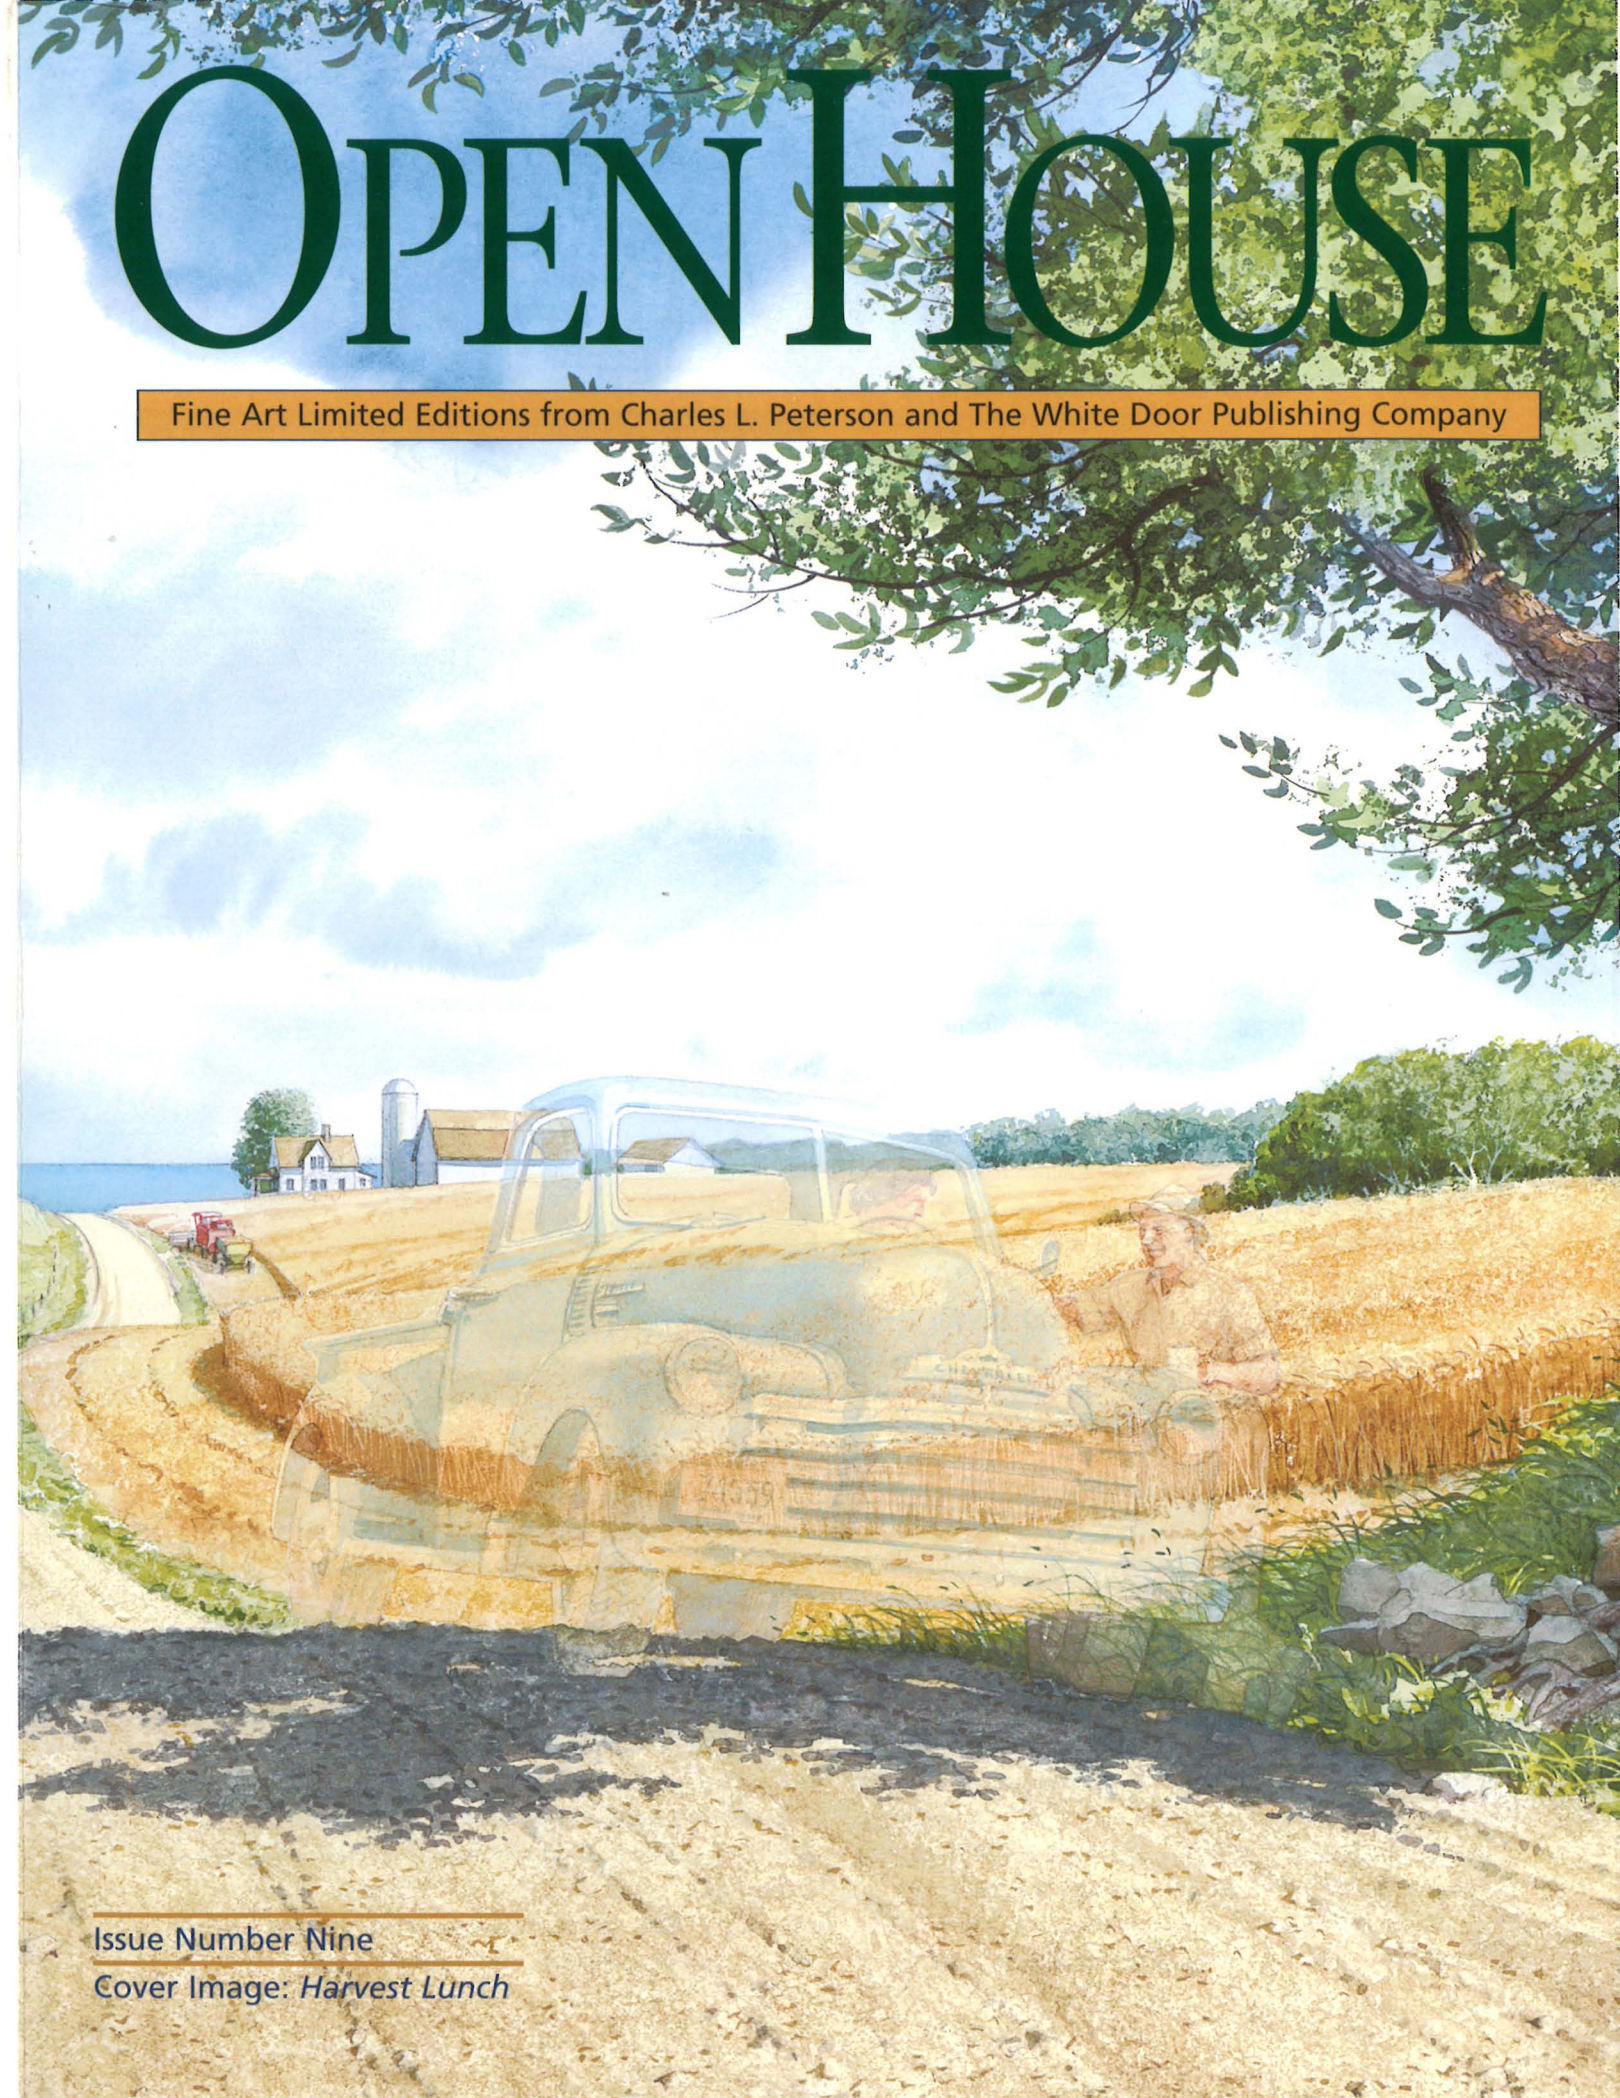

It will soon be six years since the release of Charles Peterson's first book, "Of Time And Place." Now in its third printing, the soft cover version continues to delight collectors and introduce The Memories Collection to those just discovering Charles Peterson's work. But now there's much more story to tell and much more art to show. The size, shape and style of the new book will resemble the first. It will be released in a limited edition hard cover version as well as in soft cover. We anticipate availability in time for the holidays.
