

C. L. Peterson, Maritime Artist Of International Acclaim

The limited edition print industry knows Charles Peterson for his unique “memories” paintings.

In another segment of the art world however, there are many enthusiasts who know nothing of The Memories Collection, but know Charles Peterson to be one of this country’s great artists of nautical themes. His magnificent paintings of the great sailing ships, of rugged commercial fishermen and of quiet harbors are considered among the best of the genre. The acclaimed Mystic Maritime Museum regularly invites C. L. Peterson to participate in their Modern Marine Masters show and twice awarded his work the prestigious Thomas Hoyne Award in their International Art Competition. On one such occasion, Walter Cronkite, celebrity judge, observed, “Great light. This man can draw!” Yes he can . . . with the best in the world.

Enjoy Charles Peterson’s work for whatever it brings to you personally, but do not forget its stature in the larger world of art.
